This year we've again been on the panel for the Glastonbury Festival Emerging Talent Competition, judging the first round of the competition. We listened to a lot of excellent new music and made some tough choices to narrow it down to three picks for the longlist stage. Check out our choices, TADGH, Wedding and Tom Forbes along with the top picks from the other judges in this playlist.

Glastonbury have also now unveiled their top 8 from the longlist who will play in a live final in Pilton later this month. Check out the Glastonbury website for more information. We'll also be reporting from the finals on the 22nd, when we'll find out who has won the coveted slot at the festival.

It's been a busy old month at Amazing Radio. Bands stopping by whilst on tour, show schedule changes and a whole host of early festival coverage has been firmly on the agenda.

Fresh from Roundhouse Rising Tom Grennan popped in to play live for us and whilst in the midst of a UK tour, Australia's Julia Jacklin also laid us down a stunning session. We've managed to kidnap and lock down some other fabulous acts whilst they travel up and down the A1 playing respective shows around the UK. Dutch Uncles, Pale Waves, Methyl Ethel, Cabbage and Superfood all discussed what's going on in their world right now.

Bearcubs is definitely one to watch. Recently he took part in Josh Hannen's guest mix slot, we've also had great new curating contributions to The Takeover with Manchester's PINS and Oxford's Glass Animals both sharing their favourite new music and longtime inspirations. If you've missed any of our Takeover series you can listen again to all of the shows here

We've also had a few schedule changes throughout March. Thomas Little and Rianne Thompson who alternate shows on a Tuesday have now moved to the coveted 7-9pm slot, as have Wednesday's Josh Hannen and Elise Cobain. If that wasn't enough to remember, make a note in your diary as every Friday from 9am we're dedicating a huge chunk of the morning to acts playing some of our favourite festivals. We kicked off #FestiFriday with the whole line-up from Hit The North as our festival journey kicks into overdrive. Expect to hear artist from just about every boutique and large scale festival on a Friday morning.

Keep an eye on our website and social media platforms over the next month as we'll have some very exciting Great Escape news for you!

amazingrecordco.

It's been a month chock-full of festival & tour announcements for Amazing Record Co. artists:

Boy Jumps Ship have revealed that they will be joining American friends Patent Pending from April 23rd on their Spring Break tour.

Therapy? head out on the Irish leg of the Wood & Wire tour on April 25th, and have announced a couple of rare acoustic festival performances for the summer, including Beautiful Days festival in August, and Andy Cairns' solo slot at Camden Rocks in June.

Also announced for Camden Rocks are Avalanche Party, whose Amazing Singles Club release Solid Gold has just been added to Spotify's Hot New Bands playlist.

This month you can also catch Avalanche Party on the 8th in Scunthorpe with LIFE, headlining at Stockton Calling festival, playing The Rocksteady in Dalston on the 22nd, back in Newcastle for Meet the North Festival and on the 29th at Black Iris Brewery in Nottingham.

We've got some great new music from OurStage artists to share with you this month. Boston rock and roll band Aloud released a new single called Agua Mala, about the water crisis in Flint, Michigan. All proceeds from the song go to benefit the United Way's Flint water fund. Indie songstress Lady Lamb hit the road to support her new EP Tender Warriors Club (Mom + Pop Records). And genre-bending singer and songwriter Lauren Strange revealed her cover of The Cranberries' 1994 hit Zombie.

Another surprising gem from this month is a video of January's Grand Prize winner in the Urban category, Konshens The MC performing his winning song Militant at Washington DC's Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, along with a five-piece classical ensemble. You can watch that here.

And as always, we suggest checking out our monthly show on Amazing Radio to hear new music ranked by the fan community to the top of our charts. You'll hear Pop winners The Natrolites, Canadian indie rockers With A Fox, Roots music champ Jesse Terry, and much more.
